Ref: 17-27428-OF

On Wednesday December 12, 2017 I was working the 4p-12am shift. I was assigned to unit 47 to patrol sector 3 of the town. At approximately 8:15pm I was dispatched to 10 McCafferty Way for the report of a disturbance involving the parents and their son, who had trashed his own room.

I arrived on scene right behind Sgt. Hanafin followed by Officer Daniels. Sgt. Hanafin and Officer Daniels spoke with the son Bo Shang (6/6/88) separately, while I spoke with the father Fu Shang (1/4/60) and mother Gejing Deng (10/31/59) in another room. The parents stated that they called for assistance dealing with their son Bo. They stated Bo who is 29 years old and has been previously diagnosed with a form of autism, ADHD, and has an anxiety disorder. They stated that Bo graduated from Tufts University, but does not have a job and has not worked in many years. Fu and Gejing support Bo financially, and take care of all his needs. Fu stated Bo has occasional outbursts when something goes wrong in his life. They stated he usually throws stuff around his room or rest of the house during the episode/tantrum.

Today Fu stated Bo became upset because he received a medical bill in the mail that had not been paid. Fu stated that they always help cover Bo's medical expenses, but since Bo is now an adult they do not receive the medical bills directly anymore. Fu stated Bo must have assumed that he and Gejing knew about the bill, and had not paid it on purpose. Fu stated he and Gejing were unaware of the over due bill. Fu tried to explain the situation to Bo, but he would not believe them. Fu stated Bo proceeded to trash his room by throwing many of his belongings to the floor. Fu stated he called for assistance in dealing with Bo, but did not wish to pursue any charges. Fu and Gejing were advised of their legal rights of restraining orders, and advised to seek eviction if they feel necessary. Fu and Gejing stated they still cared for Bo, and did not want any legal action taken against him at that time.

Sgt. Hanafin in the meantime fully advised Bo that he was a guest in his parents home, and that he was not owed anything from them. Bo does not pay any rent or do much of anything to help around the house. Sgt. Hanafin explained to Bo that his fully furnished living area in the basement is a privilege, not a right. I was able to observe both the first floor and basement of the home. The first floor including the kitchen, dining room, and living room were perfectly kept. The basement was trashed with dishes piled in the sink, clothing covering the entire floor, and other belongings lying randomly around the room. Bo was very argumentative toward Sgt. Hanafin, and tried to defend all of his inappropriate actions with excuses. Bo was advised to clean up his area of the home, and not to cause any further issues with his parents.

Respectfully Submitted,

Officer Griffin #122
