Information About Receiving Test and Lab Results

In order to more fully engage patients in their care, Atrius Health is sharing most test and lab results to MyHealth Online and the MyChart App as soon as they become available.

When will I hear from my provider? Typically, you will have access to results before your provider has had the opportunity to review them and contact you. In most cases, you will hear from your provider's office within a few days to review the results.

You can decide when to view results: You may prefer to view results right away, or you may choose to wait for your provider to contact you. When deciding, consider what the test was for and keep in mind that some test results may be hard to understand or show evidence of serious illnesses like cancer.

Additional information and resources: When reviewing results on your own, it is very helpful to know that not all results marked as "abnormal" are clinically concerning. You'll find links to useful informational resources on MyHealth and in the MyChart App at the top of the results tab. Please be aware that results for multiple tests done on the same day may not all become available at the same time.

What should I do if I have concerns? If you have concerns, please contact our offices via telephone or by sending a MyHealth message.

Information about Reading Your Visit Notes

The note from your visit today may be available to read in your MyHealth account or the MyChart App once it is finalized.

What are clinicians' notes? Clinicians notes typically include the reason for the visit, what was discussed, any findings from exam and testing, the diagnosis or impression, and plan for care. Notes become part of the medical record.

Why are you sharing notes with me? Patients better understand and feel more in control of their health care when they are able to read clinicians' notes. Reading notes after visits helps you review what happened, and reading them before your next visit is a great way to prepare.

Will all notes be shared? Most notes will be shared, however if your clinician feels that sharing a note could be harmful to you or another person, could compromise privacy, or if you request it, a note will not be shared.

How can I see my notes? To see a note in the MyChart App go to "Appointments", find today's visit, and click on "View notes". In MyHealth Online, go to "Visits", click on "Appointments and Visits", find today's visit in "Past Visits" and click on "View Notes and Instructions".

What if I have questions about information in my note?

Medical notes may contain unfamiliar language, abbreviations, or terminology. Medline Plus is a helpful place to look things up. You can also bring questions to your next appointment.

What should I do if I think I have found a mistake in a note?

If you find a potential mistake that could affect your care immediately, please contact us right away. For other inaccuracies, bring them to my team's attention or discuss with me at your next visit. Use your best judgment about small mistakes, such as spelling or grammar. Clinicians often dictate their notes, and small errors can happen in transcription.
